Upon default, the entire balance of this Note shall, unless excused by the Credit Union's Board of Directors, be immediately due and payable, subject only to any right to notice and opportunity to cure default which may exist under Wis. Stats. § 425.105. A default shall occur when (a) there is a default in payment as herein defined, or (b) the Borrower fails to observe any other covenant set forth in this Note or in any agreement securing this Note, the Borrower or Borrower's spouse or any surety of this Note dies, ceases to exist, changes marital status, changes marital domicile, or becomes insolvent or subject to a bankruptcy, receivership, or other insolvency proceeding if that failure, act or occurrence materially impairs the condition, value, or protection of the Credit Union's right in any collateral securing this Note or materially impairs the ability of the Borrower to pay the amounts due under this Note. Except as otherwise provided by Wis. Stats. § 425.103(2), or by rule of the Administrator of the Wisconsin Consumer Act, a default in payment means (1) if the interval between scheduled payments is 2 months or less, to have outstanding an amount exceeding one full payment which has remained unpaid for more than 10 days after the scheduled or deferred due dates, or the failure to pay the first payment or the last payment within 40 days of its scheduled or deferred due date; or (2) if the interval between scheduled payments is more than 2 months, to have all or any part of one scheduled payment unpaid for more than 60 days after its scheduled or deferred due date; or (3) in the case of a transaction for an agricultural purpose, the failure to pay the first or the only installment when due or to pay any other installment within 40 days of its original or deferred due date; or (4) if the transaction is repayable in a single payment, the failure to pay the scheduled payment within 40 days after its scheduled or deferred due date. For purposes of this paragraph, the amount outstanding shall not include any delinquency charges and shall be computed by applying each payment first to the installment most delinquent and then to subsequent installments in the order they come due. Borrower may repay this loan, in whole or in part, at any time, without penalty for prepayment. In the event of default, the Borrower shall pay all reasonable costs incurred by Credit Union in collecting the amount due hereunder, to the extent permitted by Wis. Stats. § 422.413.

Demand, presentment, protest, notice of acceleration, notice of dishonor, and all notices of every kind except notices required by law are waived by each and every Borrower, endorser, surety or guarantor. It is understood that the holder of this Note may, without notice to any such person, unless otherwise provided by the Wisconsin Consumer Act, and without affecting the liability of any such person or the rights of the Credit Union, renew and/or extend this Note, accept late or partial payments thereon, surrender or release collateral for the payments thereof, agree not to sue a party liable hereunder or settle or compromise the amount due or owing, it being the intention hereof that all such persons (except those expressly released in writing by the holder) remain liable hereunder until all sums to be paid under this Note shall have been fully paid, notwithstanding any act, omission or thing which might otherwise operate as a legal or equitable discharge of such person's liability hereunder. The Credit Union has made no representations or warranties regarding any of the following: (1) the collection or enforcement of the obligation herein; (2) the collection of any collateral or other security obtained herein; or (3) the financial condition of any Borrower. Each Borrower has independently determined the collectability of the obligation and the creditworthiness of any Borrower. If the Borrowers are more than one, all promises, obligations, pledges, authorizations, waivers, and liabilities under this Note shall be joint and several; any use of the singular herein may also refer to the plural and vice versa.
